NO HOPE FOR HIM.

James C. Flood Liable to Die ni Any Moment.

HEIDELBERG, Oct. 17th .- J. C. Flood's illness is Bright's disease, of which he has long been a victim. Sir Andrew Clark, whom he consulted in London in May last, gave him little encouragement. Flood, with his wife and daughter, then went to Hamburg, hoping for good results from the waters. They next came to this place for the advice of Professor Erb and Dr. Hermann, of the Heidelberg medical faculty, and Professor Kussmaul, late of the Strasburg University. Professor Erb is in charge of the case. The doctors expects the end at any moment, the disease having gone to the heart. Last Wednesday the patient was unable to lie down. His feet and legs were swollen badly. His vigorous constitution alone has prolonged his life so long. His suffering is intense, and his condition is constantly changing. The doctors think the dropsical swelling of the legs may reach the heart, or the patient might, during a fit of drowsiness, die.

BIG FIRE AT WOODLAND. A Whole Block Burned—Dam 12e Estimated at $80,000

WOODLAND, Cal. Oct. 18th .- A fire broke out this evening in the rear of Miller's grocery store in Prior's block. The flames communicated to the scenery in the West End Theatre, causing a panic among those attending the Catholic Fair therein. Fortunately no one was hurt. The flames spread rapidly, and in less than an hour's time the entire block was in fiames. Miller's grocery, King's feed store and Mrs. Wirt's fancy bazaar are a total loss. The Weekly Herald office was badly damaged. H Ord's stock of buggies was removed, but, damaged considerably. Prior's harness shop and Gibson & Co.'s stock of goods were removed but were damaged by water. The entire block is a total wreck. The loss, as near as can be estimated to night, will probably

A Monster Locomotive That Takes the Shine of all Others

BOSTON, Oct. 17 .- A monster locomotive is now nearly completed at the Hinckley Works for the Atchison Railroad, designed by G. S. Story, of New York. It carries two cabs, one over the center of the boiler for the engineer, and the other in the old style for the fireman. It is the largest passenger locomotive ever built. All the wheels are made of paper, with steel tires. The driving-wheels are the largest ever made. The Worthington steam pump so works that a great part of the exhausted steam is pumped back and serves to heat the water in the tank. Another economy in fuel is the work of a large combustible chamber which burns up all the gas. It is expected to make eighty miles an hour with ten passenger cars on an ordinary road.

Advices from Mentreal say that the match between Jake Kilrain and the "upknown" has fallen through, for the reuson that the syndicate backing the "unknown" refused to divulge his name until within filteen days of the date set for the battle.

Congressman Mills, having lost his voice, has cancelled his engagements and engaged Colonel John P. Irish, of California, to fill his appointments. important legislation is contemplated.

It is stated on good authority that the President has promised to visit New York City before the election, and make day.

STRENGTH.

The Hoosier Estimate of their Mau is now More than Justified.

From the Indianapolis Journal)

Of the many remarkable features of the present campaign there is none more remarkable than General Harrison's growth in the public estimation, since his nomination. The campaign is Republican Ticket, destined to be a remarkable one in many respects. The remarkable development of American feeding, the unexpected prominence given to the national flag, the revival of the patriotic memories of the war, the enthusiasm of the old men who were voters in 1836 and 1840, the still greater enthusiasm of the young first voters, fully four-fifths of whom are Republicans, are some of the salient features of a campaign which is without parallel in recent times. Not even in the memorable campaign of 1860, when the Republican party achieved its first national victory under the leadership of the martyred Lincoln, were the evidences of individ-ual conviction, popular enthusiasm and local activity more apparent than they are at present.

But none of these features, nor all of them combined, tend more to individualize the campaign and differentiate it from all others than the steady and icmurkable manner in which General Harrison has continued to grow in the estimation of the public, from the day of his nomination to the present. Three months ago when the Indiana delegation and his other friends at Chicago were urging his nomination they put it on the ground of his availability, his high character and great ability, his true and tried Republicanism, and his spotless record as a soldier, citizen and states-man. To such as had not closely observed General Harrison's career, or who were not informed as to his intellectual and moral qualities, his est expectations that could be formed of him as a candidate and leader. At that time it could hardly be said that General Harrison had a national reputation in the sense of being widely and almost universally known, and it was not surprising that some cariosity should exist as to what manner of man the Hoosiers were so earnestly and enthusiastically pressing for the nomina-

But the Hoosiers knew their man, and were not backward about endorsing him. Knowing that if nominated he would meet every requirement of the position and every expectation of the party, they had no hesitation in giving the strong est possible assurances on this score. How safe they were in doing so let the record of the last three months decide. How completely Gen. Harrison has justified the representations at Chicago of those who knew him best, let his present standing before the American people determine. No man ever grew more rapidly in public estimation than General Harrison has in the last three months, and no candidate ever more completely vindicated the wisdom of a convention's choice. Few men and few characters can stand the ordeal of being placed on such a pedestal, standing for months in the fierce light that beats on a Presidential nominee, a target for calumny as well as criticism, without dis-closing some weakness or defect. Fewer still can pass through the far more trying ordeal of receiving thou-sands upon thousands of visitors and making scores of speeches to acres upon acres of people, touching more or less directly on nearly every phase of public affairs, without making a single mistake that his enemies can seize upon. or saying a single thing that his friends could wish unsaid. In this respect General Harrison's candidacy is unique and unparalleled. He has already made more than sixty speeches since his nomination, and not a dull one in the en-tire number nor a single error. The gifted Garfield was not called upon to make so many speeches, and he certainly did not make better ones, and we do not forget the great speeches of Mr. Blaine. General Harrison's speeches snow something more than a more gift of oratory. They reveal the quality of his mind, the sincerity and strength of his convictins, the breadth and catholicity of his views, the warmth and fervor of his feelings, his fine imagination and his lofty patriotism. This is not flattery; it is in the mouths of millions, the common talk of the country. Thus it is that General Harrison, without any self-seeking or ostentations effort on his part, merely by meeting, to the fullest extent, the requirements of his position and the drafts made upon him by the Republican party, has ful-filled every prediction of his friends and won the unbounded admiration of millions of his countrymen. Where he sits is the head of the table, and he is still growing.

The Situation in the Northwest.

LABOR INTERESTS.

Chief Arthur's Annual Address to the Lecemetive Engineers.

RICHMOND, Oct. 18 .- Obief Arthur in his annual address to the Brotherhood Locomotive Engineers which met here yesterday, said the order had held firmly together. Thirty-two new divisions had been established during the year, and now there are 304 divisions located at different points from Manitoba to Mexico, and from Novia Scotia to California, giving a grand total of 25,000 members. They had witnessed the severest conflict in the history of the brotherhood, namely the strike on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. Every known expedient was tried to bring about a settlement between company and men only to meet with almost indifference. They were forced to sanction the strike. Had either the President or the General Manager shown the slightest disposition to treat the men fairly, as managers of the other roads have done, there would have been no strike. The requests of the men were fair and teasonable. All they asked was to be paid the same rates as competing lines were paying for the same service rendered. Chief Arthur would never reregard the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy strike as a failure except on the part of the road. It would serve to purge the brotherhood of the dangerous element and to add largely to its members. It was extremely mortifiying, he said, to think that any member of the organization should have so forgotien themselsve as to become involved in any riends gave strong assurance that he was eminently qualified for the Presidential office, and would meet the high acts of lawlesness and will punish the scheme or plot to destroy life or prop-

In Yellowhead Township, Kankakee county, Illinois, twenty-three young men will cast their first Presidential votes this year. Out of the twenty-three twenty will vote for Harrison and Morton and Fifer. John Evans, an engineer for the Teed kakee, Ill., has renounced the Democratic party and joined the Republican party for good. He has always voted the Democratic ticket before. Edward Teed, one of the partners in the Teed Shoe Manufacturing Company, of Kankakee, Itl., was four years ago one of the leading Prohibitionists of the county. This year he has come out squarely for Harrison and Morton, as have also some of his employes. Alfred Dalze, one of the largest mannfacturers in Herkimer county, New York, voted for Cleveland four years ago. He is now an enthusiastic admirer of Harrison and Morton, and made a speech to his employee advising them to do the same. Many of thes employes will vote for Harrison who never before voted a Republican ticket.

William Burrell, of Newcastle, Ind., publishes the following card: "I was a soldier more than four years. I have two honorable discharges. I have always voted the Democratic ticket, but on account of unfriendly soldier legislalation, the vetoes of a President who furnished a substitute when drafted, and on account of the free trade issues that party takes, I shall vote for the gallant soldiers and soldiers' friends, Harrison and Hovey, and the entire Republican ticket, in favor of my country against England."

William Sullivan, of Richmond, Ontario county, N. Y., was born Dec. 2, 1875. He is vigorous both mentally and physically, and is taking a deep interest in the Presidential campaign. Since he became a voter in 1807 he has not missed an election or a town meeting, and has consequently voted at eighty-one elections, twenty of which have been for President. Although he has always supported the candidates of the Democratic party and never voted any other ticket since the name appeared in poli-tics, his twenty-first Presidential ballot will be east for Harrison and Morton.

That is more of a poser to the English. It is quite impossible to account for it except on the theory of deranged stomach action caused by imprudence in eating and by want of regular

Both conditions are unnatural.

Catarrhal troubles everywhere prevail and end in cough and consumption, which are promoted by malnutrition induced by deranged stomach action. The condition is a modern one, one unknown to our ancestors who prevented the catarrh, cold, cough and consumption by abundant and regular use of what is now known as Warner's Log Cabin cough and consumption remedy and Log Cabin sarsaparilla, two old fashioned standard remedies handed down from our ancestors, and now exclusively put forth under the exclusively put form the strongest guarantees of purity and efficacy by the world-famed makers of Warner's safe cure. These two remedies plentifully used as the fall remedies plentifully used as the fall and winter seasons advance, to-gether with an occasional use of Warner's Log Cabin rose cream, to strengthen and protect the nasal membranes give a positive assur-ance of freedom, both from catarrh and those dreadful and if neglected, inevitable consequences, pneumonia lung troubles and consumption, which so generally and fatally prevail among Comrade Eli Fisher, of Salem, Henry Co., Iowa, served four years in the late war and contracted a disease called consumption by the doctors. He had frequent hemorrhages. After using Warner's Log cough and consumption remedy, he says, under date of Jan. 19th, 1888: "I do not bleed at the lungs any more, my cough does not bother me, and I do not have any more smothering spells." Of course we do not like to have our women called nose talkers and false teeth owners, but these conditions can be readily overcome in the manner indicated.

An Excellent Wheat Crop.

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 18 .- The wheat proposithe entire wheat belt of Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington Territory turned out well this year and there is a surplus of many thousand tons. Three-quarters of the yield has already been sold. The farmers are in high spirits and preparing to seed every available acre in wheat for the next year. The prospects for a large crop in 1889 are very bright--more favorable For Justice Supreme Court, than ever at this season of the year. The wheat produced this year was plump and of heavy weight. A noticeable feature was the almost total For Presidential Electors, absence of smut.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh.
